(From the Frankfort Yeoman.)

The first public discussion between Gov. Louis and Gea. Harlan, Democratic and Radical candidates for Governor, occurred at the covert-house in this city on Wednesday even-land and the covert-house in this city on Wednesday even-land and the covert-house in this city on Wednesday even-land a half. We heard them throughout, and must coafess to a double disappointment. Gen. Harlan idea done up to the expectations we had formed of him, while Gov. Leaties surpased them, and syrceably surprised all this oldest friends. The grand striking difference between the two champions, however, hay in this, that Leslie was in "dead carnest," while Harlan was evidently only acting a part. Leslie's whole soul was in the cause he advocated. Harlan secund to be only making preture. Leslie's face beamed with Datholte ardor. Harlan wors a mask, on the with Datholte ardor. We re-member his letters from Paris to the New York Evening Post a lew years ago, and they possessed a freshness and charm and individuality which raised them greatly above the average of ordinary foreign correspondence. We are quite saic, there-fore, in assuring our readers that Mr ccution well befits the subject. It is in a free and sketchy manner—a manner which in art, corresponds to the rapid, concise, suggestive and meaningful style in writing—and it must be allowed that none but an arist could handle the brush with such effective and admirable results. In point, of subject the picture is very simple. It represents a languid, sunny day upon the multiplication of offices, the same enormous State debits, and the same general misrule and diagrace that they had never once failed to bring upon every other Southern State whose centrol they had been solle, by force or fraud, or both to compasa."

COURTESISS OF THE CANVASS. COURTESISS OF THE UNIVERSE.

After some pleasant and very appropriate remarks in reference to the agreeable personal relations which he hoped might be established and maintained throughout the cavess between himself and his competitor, Gen. Harian proceeded to arraya the Democratic party for its failure to adopt a more affirmative piatform. HIS ARRAIGNMENT.

affirmative platform.

His ARRAIGNERY.

He charged—and this he did repeatedly—that it cont used but one affirmative plants, namely, the one which related to amuexy. As for himself, be had been 1a favor of ameriy all the time. He then called upon Governor Leslie to tell the audience, when he came to speak, what, he was in favor of; what was his policy in the matter of taxation and revenue? Does he propose to strate He manual that he propose to strate He manual that the propose to the first He matter of taxation and revenue? Does he propose to strate He manual that the propose to for the He matter of the propose to the strate He manual that the propose of on every subject-susying the attention of the people, while that of the Democratic party was either silent or death in generalities. He then came out most emphatically for a State Convention to revise the Constitution amended in reference to the Sapreme or appellate Curr, so that the Constitution amended in reference to the Sapreme or appellate Curr, so that the best up the bench of that court. He wanted the pardoning power modified, so that the Governor should not have power to pardon before tinia and conviction. He was also in favor of running railroads seros Kentucky in every direction, and cirred not with whose money they were built. He would encourage lamingration to the State by all practicable means and encouragements. He Fon arraigned the testify, and to pass a law to put down the Kukius.

iestify, and to pass a law to put down the Kuklux.

THE LOSILATURE.

He read largely from the journals of the Legislature to show how "lavish" the Democrate had been is making appropriations here in Kentucky; and we could not but thick how his besther Radicals further South—lo Tennessee, Louislans, Arkannas, and the two Carolines, for example—would have langhed or hundreds best about a few saliry thousands of hundreds best about a few saliry thousands or hundreds best about a few saliry thousands or hundreds best about a few saliry thousands or hundreds best about a few saliry the innocent Bennoracy of Kentacky, who they are nearly every day appropriating or stealing milhors. They would have fairly laughed him off the stood.

We have not the space to follow Gen. Harlan further in his remarks. It is sufficient to say, that he unquectionably made the oest presentation of his party on the questions of the day. National as well as State, that we have get heard from any quarter.

the day, National as well as State, that we have yet heard from any quarter.

GOVERNOR LERLIE'S RENARES.

GOV Lealle commenced by saying that he was rejoiced to meet his competitor, and especially at this time and in this piece. He should not be able to night to take up all of the questions discussed by General Harian, but before the canvass progressed far he would. He wished his competitor to distinctly understand that he should 'dodge' on issue, nor did he intend to allow him to dodge the great overshedowing lesse of the curvass, namely: Radicalsum, its corruptions, its destructive tradeomy lesses of the curvass, namely: Radicalsum, its corruptions, its destructive tradeomy lesses of the curvass, namely: Radicalsum, its corruptions, its destructive tradeomy and the complex for the competition of the complex for the competition of the position of Kentucky's credit in the finingial, would look, As for what would have been the result and the ladeomy and party had do on tool, he need that point to every party had con trool, he need that point to every had and the competition of the position of the point to every had not the competition of the point to every had not been the result as the competition of the position of the point to every had not the point to every had not the competition of the point to every had not the competition of the point to every had not the competition of the point to every had not the competition of the point to every had not the finite of the competition of the point to every had not the competition of the point to every had not the competition of the point to every had not the competition of th the most beautiful and celebrated pieces of antique sculpture in the gallery of the Louvre—the Hermophradite. he reminded General Harlan that it was only so long ago as 1857 that he, as a "Ktow-Nothing," opposed all kinds of migration, while the Democracy was distinguished in all its history for its liberality to all kinds of emigration. The employment of coursel by Kestucky, in the celebrated case referred to by Gen. H., was to test the constitutionality of the civil rights bill, not accepted to the constitutionality of the civil rights bill, not accepted to the constitutionality of the civil rights bill, not accepted to the constitutionality of the civil rights bill, not accepted to the constitutionality of the civil rights bill, not accepted to the constitutionality of the civil rights bill, not accepted to the constitution of the civil rights billions with that of Kentucky, and showed that there was four times as much in the direct shamed and twice as much in the other as in Kentucky. He was no friend it the Kukiux. There was not a black man in Kentucky who had ever gone to the court for reduces for any wrong or injury who had not obtained all the redress possible to any one, white or black. He denied that the prevalence of crime here had turned aside any emigration from Kentucky. All our people are swift to hum up and punish crime.

Shall They be Wood or Stone?—Santary Yiew of the Subject.

To the Editor of the N. Y. Tribue:

Siz: While acting as resident physician it was my duty to give attention to the pavements of the city, and to their condition. As a case of the city and the stone of the city and to their condition. The street say and olicht, the different kinds of pavements and their condition forced themselves upon my notice; but never, until I saw the concrete annoyance of Fifth avenue, was the subject brought so directly home to me as actizen, as a properly holder and as a physician, and never before did I so faily realize the importance of the question of nevenents. Now that the privilege of streeting for themselves has been mently super that the different kinds of pavements acould be thoroughly investigated. Experiences in this contribution of the material employed in paving arcets must be either stone or wood.

There are many different methods of laying each of these materials, some of which have been universally condemmed. For instance, the "cothle stone," which is simply as abomination in the sight of horse and man. The "macadam" produces dust, which is not only disagrecable, but deleterious to health. Without and make just estimate of both, let blocks of stone of suitable size and dimensions be piaced upon edge, and blocks of wood abaped in like maner be placed upon end. Two Good Steries from Marshal Murray of New York.

[From the New York.

[From the New York Sun.]

Ex-United States Marshal Murray is a jolly old fellow. A Sun reporter met Mr. Murray recently inex-Judge Statart's office, and while the reporter was waiting for the Judge to be at leisure, the two began chatting about the Foster case. The testimony of Foster's friends as to his general good character when sober was mentioned, and Mr. Murray seemed inclined to excuse the murderer on account of his drunksnnsss and incapability of controlling his actions at the time of the assault. Another gentleman in the room said that, granting that to be true, it was no excuse, because Foster had no moral right to get into such a state.

"Mwdear air, drunkenness is a disease."

ter had no moral right to get into such a state.

"Mydear sir, drunkennesa is a disease," was Mr. Murray's rather startling reply.

This the other gentleman pool-poohed.

"I tell you, sir." said the ex-Marshal,
"I know men in this city, refined and educated gentlemen, who are continually making superhuman efforts to free themselves from a craving for liquor, but who find it impossible to do so."

The third gentleman laughed. "I guess it's resolutions you mean," he said. "not efforts I know many of that kind myself."

"not efforts I know many many myself."

"No, no; efforts, downright earnest efforts, hastily returned Mr. Murray. "I have tried my hand at curing many drunk ards, but I never succeeded but once. I'll

Some remarkable cures effected by the use of a decoction of the common red clover drank as a tea and used as a wash have lately called the public attention to the medical properties to this plant. This, however, cannot be said to be a new remedy; it has been employed for some years past, and there are some apparently well-attented cases of its efficacy even after the disease had become distressingly painful, and all hope was given up. The following report of one of these cases has been written for the New York Post:

Mr. Joel Rood, somin law of Mr. Tremna Woodford, has a cousin residing in Great Barrington, Mass., the wife of a hotel-keeper, who had cancer in one breast, which became so serious that the whole gland was removed by a surgeon and the wound healed. About a year after the cancerous humor broke out is the other breast and was beginning to be serious. Mr. Rood, seeing the good effects of the clover tea and wash on his father in-law, Mr. Truman Woodford, wrote to his cousin informing her of the fact, and urging her to try the remedy. She adopted it at once, and in a few months was antirely healed, and at the time of receiving this information, which was a year or more afterwards, no reappearance of the humor had occurred. The following appears in the "American Dispensary," by Dr. John King, of Cincinnati:

"BED CLOVER—THE RLOSSOMS, PROPERTIES A CAUTIOUS ADVENTURER.
